Introduction

The Papers were purchased at the Sotheby auction of 19 July 1994 (lots 325-326). While their previous provenance is unclear, the presence of some papers relating to Thomas Collins (b. 1913), of Glasgow, the biographer of John Ogilvie, suggests that he had some connection with them. The large amount of material subsequent to Casement's execution and associated with his cousin Gertrude Parry, née Bannister, and her husband, Methold Sidney Parry, along with Casement's friend Alice Stopford Green, is indicative of the source of much of the material.

The extraneous material relating to the naval career of Henry Schomberg Kerr (1838-1895) who became a Jesuit and missionary, support the connection of the Papers with Thomas Collins.
